

Structural and Dynamic Bases of Hand Surgery

EDUARDO ZANCOLLI, M.D.

*Authorized Professor of Orthopedics, University of Buenos Aires;
Orthopedic Surgeon, Rawson Hospital, Buenos Aires;
Honorary Consulting Hand Surgeon to the National Rehabilitation Center, Buenos Aires*

With a Foreword by
JOSEPH H. BOYES, M.D.

Pitman Medical Publishing Co., Ltd.

LONDON

J. B. Lippincott Company

PHILADELPHIA

CONTENTS

1. The Assemblage and Force Nucleus of the Metacarpophalangeal Retinacular Apparatus	1
2. Pathomechanics in Paralytic Clawhand; Complementary Action Between the Extrinsic and Intrinsic Tendons During Digital Extension	10
3. Clawhand Due to Intrinsic Paralysis: Clinical Classification and Surgical Correction Program	18
4. Mechanisms that Stabilize the Extensor Digitorum Communis Tendon and the Metacarpophalangeal Joint—The Ulnar Forces of the Hand	51
5. Arthritic Ulnar Drift With Reducible Metacarpophalangeal Dislocation	64
6. The Lateral Retinacular Ligament and the Functional Circuit of the Fingers ...	85
7. Pathology of the Extensor Apparatus of the Fingers	98
8. The Neurovascular Tunnel in the Fingers—Approaches for Flexor Tendon Grafts	130
9. Interossei and Lumbrical Muscular Contracture	136
10. Motor Restoration Program in Volkmann's Contracture in Accordance With Intrinsic Muscular Disorders of the Hand	150
11. Functional Restoration of the Upper Limbs in Complete Traumatic Quadriplegia	155
12. The Spastic Hand	175
Bibliography	189
Index	193